DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's remarks dated September 19, 2005 and declaration dated September 11, 2005 have been acknowledged by the Examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 1-6 and 9-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weigold et al. (USP 5, 397,552) in view of Natsis et al. (USP 3,617,382). See the appropriate paragraphs of the 03/08/2005 Office Action.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments dated 09/19/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant misinterprets and misquotes the statement made by the Examiner in the previous Office Action which recites: "... to a certain extent (depending on particular hydrodynamic conditions) the two processes (bifurcation and redirection) are inseparable" (in other words, concurrent, or coexisting), and which in no way means that the two processes are considered 'equivalent' by the Examiner.

In response to Applicant's argument that the Examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the Applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Examiner notes that motivation for combining the references is indeed taught in the references. Natsis teaches a mixing chamber having the baffles as recited in the instant claims. Natsis teaches that such baffled mixing chambers provide "intensive ordered mixing with resulting high heat and mass transfer and reaction rates, and is especially advantageous for stagewise processing of fluids..." Clearly this is motivation for providing such a baffled mixing chamber within the apparatus of Weigold. -See column 1, lines 35-40.

Examiner also notes that modification of an apparatus to "permit" a particular process to be performed is appropriate here. Applicant's claims are directed to an apparatus. In apparatus claims it is the structure, not the intended use, which is accorded patentable weight.

The affidavit submitted by the Applicant is not commensurate with the scope of the claimed invention directed to an apparatus. The references cited disclose all the elements of the apparatus as claimed. Additionally, "a recitation in respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the structural limitations of that claimed" – See Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Conclusion

6. This is a Request for Continuing Examination of Applicant's earlier Application No. 10/614463. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
